About this document

This is a CV of failures. I first heard of this notion from here. Please see the introduction in that document for more details. In short, successes tend to be more visible than failures, and this is an attempt to bring in some balance.

This document only includes what I can recall in one sitting in mid-2017; there are surely more professional failures that I've missed (not to mention personal ones). If you have rejected me and don't see yourself listed here, it's nothing personal.
